CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Based on Habib & PPG

PPG

Introduction

- Career development is the process where we are going to find a place in the industry for our future life. This process is very important as we need to make sure what jobs are suit for us. To get hired at the company we are desired, we need to have a good knowledge and skills that meet the requirements of the company.

- Career development is also important for us to measure our strength and know our values for certain jobs. This can be seen as we are going to make a plan and set goals for our job so that we can see what are the things that we have achieved and do improvement.

Content of TALK

- From the talk that have been given by our seniors during the event , it is important to gain as much as possible skills to make sure that we get hired by our desired company. Some technical skills such as SQL, data modelling and programming skills need to be mastered during studies as it is important to apply for our daily work. Of course, communication and critical thinking skills are included as to improve our soft skills.

- Moreover, having positive attitude and mindset during work is essential as our attitude will represent the whole company image when we deal with our customers. For example, being an open-minded person and eagers to learn something new will create us a good personality in the working place.

- Lastly, having a good resume to be posted through LinkedIn and others jobs hunting online is important to make us outstanding from others competitive. For example, we can include our achievements in the resume so that we get to show the industry our progress during studies.

Executive SUMMARY

The career talk have presented that many youngsters don't get employed as they are lack of skills such as soft skills and technical skills. They have mention that we need to be all rounded to secure our place in the industry as the company will not only looking for someone who have better academic achievement but not in solving problems.

In addition, they also shown the comparison between good and bad example of resume that will be accepted by many company.
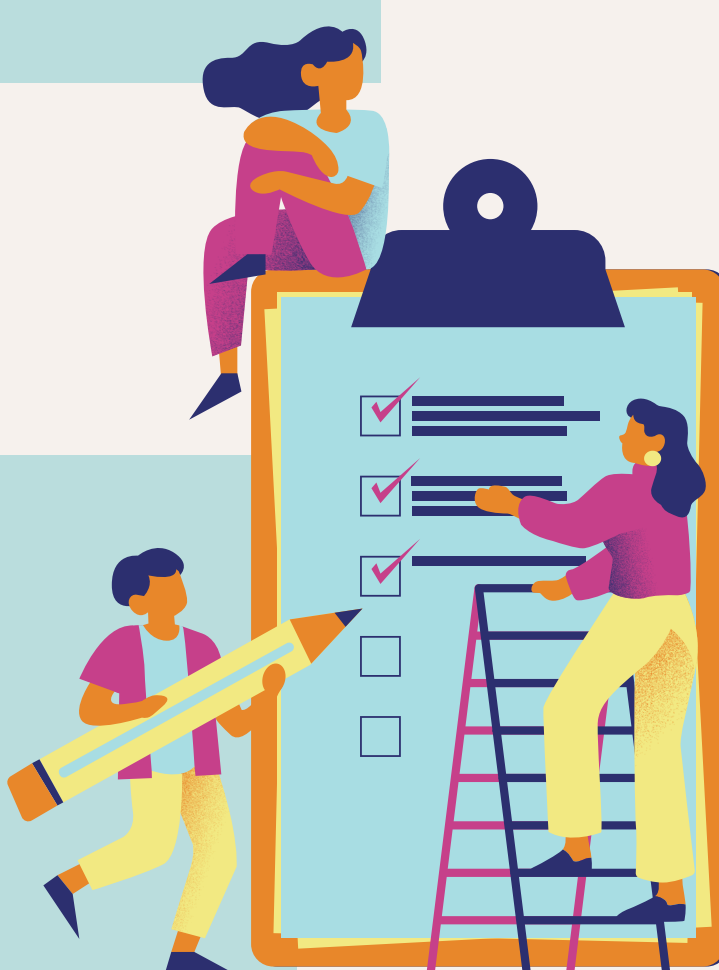

Way FOWARD

- To excel in programming language, joining clubs that related to our fields is important as we get to learn more about coding and do more project.

- Being responsible is one of the most needed attitude in industry as we are going to deal with customers needs. If we are not responsible to the job given, it will ruin the image of the company itself.

- Jobs hunting needed to be apply as soon as possible during our studies as it will be more competitive if we apply it after getting our degree.

Reflection

From the career talk that have been held previously, there are some of ICT jobs that is essential to play a meaningful role in industry. For example, being a web developer is not an easy task as it needs us to have a good skills to create and maintain a website. It motivates me to excel my technical skills and to have higher critical thinking to solve problems in future industry.

In addition, I learn that having academic achievements is not the only thing that we need to achieve. It motivates me to be active in co-curriculum as well as it will helps to develop my soft skills better. Communication skills is one of the important elements that crucially needed in industry as we are going to deal with the customers.

Nabil Aflah Boo BT Mohd Yosuf Boo Yong Chong (A23CS0252)